DETAILED ACTION

Foreign Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Acknowledgment is made of applicant's claim for foreign priority based on an application filed in Taiwan on 01/20/2004.

Drawings

2. The drawings are objected to for the following reasons.

The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(4) because reference characters 14 and 112 have both been used to designate second surface. Correction is required.

Specification

3. The specification has been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of possible minor errors. However, the applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Art Unit: 2821

Regarding claim 1, the phrase "OLE_LINK1" renders the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitation(s) following the phrase are part of the claimed invention. See MPEP § 2173.05(d). What is the "OLE_LINK1"?

Regarding claim 1, the phrase "the ground pad comprises a base from the base extending toward the feeding point " renders the claim(s) indefinite because the claim(s) fail to clearly define the base of ground pad. Where is the base and where is the ground pad? It is not clear 142 is the conductive or nonconductive material.

Claim 12, the phrase "extension", "first edge" renders the claim indefinite because it is not clear an extension is the ground or one part of conductive material or nonconductive material. Where is the first edge?

Claims 2-15 depend from rejected claim 1 thereby render these dependent claims indefinite.

Base on rejection 112, the applicant has been examined.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

35 U.S.C. § 102(e), as revised by the AIPA and H.R. 2215, applies to all qualifying references, except when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. For such patents, the prior art date is determined under 35 U.S.C. § 102(e) as it existed prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. § 102(e)).

Claims 1-2, 5-8 and 10-13 are rejected under 35 U. S. C. § 102 (e) as being anticipated by admitted prior art (Admission) in Fig. 1.

Claim 1, Admission discloses a dual-band antenna, comprising a substrate 24 having a first surface and a second surface that is on the opposite side of the substrate 24 from the first surface, a transmission line 25 coupled to a feeding point for transmitting RF signals, an emitting unit having a first wire 21 and a second wire 22 that are both disposed on the first surface and the first wire 21 and the second wire 22 are crossed at the feeding point (See fig. above); and a ground pad 28 disposed on the second surface of the substrate 24 (see fig. above), wherein the ground pad 24 comprises a base from the base extending toward the feeding point (See fig. above).

Claim 5, Admission discloses the base of the ground pad is substantially rectangular (see fig. above).

Claims 6-8, Admission discloses an extension 28 disposes on the second surface and extending from the base toward a first edge of the substrate (see fig. above), the extension is adjacent to the emitting unit and the extend of the ground pad is substantially rectangular in shape (See fig. above).

Claims 10-11, it is inherent Admission disclose the first wire 21 decides the low operation frequency and second wire decides high operation frequency because with the same structure as the second wire 22 is shorter than first wire 21 from the feeding point.

Claims 12-13. Admission disclose the second wire 22 is extended upward from the feeding point and bent at some angle, being parallel to one side of the base and the first wire parallel to one side of the base (See fig. 1)

Claim Rejections - 35 U.S.C. § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3-4 and 14 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 (a) as being unpatentable over admitted prior art (Admission)

Claims 3-4 and 14, Admission discloses the claimed invention except for different kind of transmission line. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have different kind of transmission and have different impedance, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Conclusion

7. Claim 9 would be allowed. (if rewritten to overcome the rejection under 35 USC § 112 and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims)
